STATE POLICE SEEK PROBE IN AUTO FATALITY

Akron Man Dies of Burns Received As Auto Catches Fire

REPORTED SUM OF $800 IS MISSING

Victim's Clothes Charred; Cash May Have Been Destroyed

Salem state highway patrolmen have asked Coroner Dale Hauser of Mahoning county to investigate the death of Thomas C. Stevenson, 55, 615 Edgewood ave., Akron, who was fatally burned at 7 a. m. yesterday when his automobile caught fire on the Columbiana-Canfield road.

Stevenson died at 2:53 p. m. Monday in South Side hospital at Canfield.

Carried $800

The officers learned that Stevenson carried $800 on his person, which could not be found after the accident, although his empty pocket was found near the charred car.

A sister of Stevenson's at Beaver, Pa., told Patrolman A. E. Mercer that her brother had drawn $800 from a bank there and intended to purchase a new car with it in Akron.

Other puzzling angles at the scene of the fire, where Stevenson's 1934 model car had slid into a ditch, caused the officers to request Coroner Hauser to investigate.

The theory advanced by the officers yesterday was that Stevenson was sprayed with flaming gasoline when the gas tank of his car exploded.

Body Found in Snow

State highway department workers, passing the scene shortly after dawn, found Stevenson lying behind the burning car. He had been burned all over his body with the exception of his back which was covered with snow.

State patrol officers, in investigating the mishap, found that the car had slid into the ditch at a slow speed, that Stevenson got out of his machine on the right side and that marks indicated that he had lain in front of the car as well as in back of the burning car.

NEW COLD WAVE TO HIT SALEM

Temperatures Slated To Fall After Sudden Break in Weather

Tumbling temperature marks today heralded a new cold wave for Salem and the rest of Ohio.

The frigid blast swept in on a 40-mile-an-hour wind and weathermen said the mercury would fall five above zero tonight.

Mounting to 43 at 8 a. m.—the first time the mercury reached the 40s for six weeks—the temperature started to fall and at 10:30 a. m. stood at 27.

Snow flurries were forecast for the afternoon and tonight.

Columbiana's Two Oldest Citizens Have Birthdays

Carl Hoefman, 92, Celebrates Event at Home of Daughter

COLUMBIANA, Feb. 4.—Columbiana's oldest citizen, Carl Hoefman, was celebrating his 92nd birthday today at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. John Holsapfel, with whom he makes his home.

Mr. Hoefman, who was born in Germany, sailed for America when he was 38 years old, together with his wife and four children.

He recalls how all four children had "ship measles," and one son, Bevard, then aged 2, died two weeks after landing in this country. The family settled in Enon Valley, Pa., where he was engaged in farming.

Mr. Hoefman came to Columbiana in March, 29 years ago, and was employed in landscaping and gardening work until he was forced to retire because of the infirmities of age.

Last Of Family

He was the eldest of a family of three boys and is the last living member of his family, his parents and brothers all having died in Germany. He went to school there and was a member of the Lutheran church and is now a member of the Columbiana Lutheran church, although he has not been able to attend for a number of years.

Mr. Hoefman attributes his long life to a good appetite and having lived a good clean life. He eats two meals a day, one at 9 a. m. and the other at 5 p. m. He retires each evening at 5:30 and rises at eight. His hearing is good but his eyes have failed and he is unable to read.

He never wore spectacles. He spends his time sitting in a comfortable chair and is able to get about the house without assistance and to care for himself. He recalls 32 years ago when he lost the sight of one eye while thrashing. He converses with his daughter at times in German and most of his conversation is relative to olden days.

Never Ill

He has never been ill and says he has no use for medicine at his age, since he did not need it when young. Mrs. Hoefman died in 1928. He has three children living: Mrs. Holzapel and Mrs. Margaret Douglas of Columbiana and Charles Hoefman of Newark, N. J. There was no birthday celebration, the day being spent in the quiet manner to which Mr. Hoefman is accustomed.

R. M. PATTERSON ENDORSED FOR BALLOT BOARD

Lisbon Man Winner Over Charles Cavanaugh At Democratic Meet

WINS PLACE BY ONE-VOTE MARGIN

Salem Man Is Completing Fifth Term As Elec- tion Official

Robert M. Patterson of Lisbon, now serving as Columbiana county coroner, will succeed Charles Cavanaugh of Salem as a member of the Columbiana county board of deputy supervisors of elections, the final appointment being contingent upon the approval of the secretary of state.

Patterson was endorsed by a one-vote margin over Cavanaugh at a meeting of the Democratic county executive committee last night in Lisbon.

Vote Is 11 to 10

Patterson, vice chairman of the executive committee, was given 11 votes to Cavanaugh's 10, out of 22 members present, with C. V. Beatty of East Liverpool, chairman, remaining out of the ballot, which was secret.

Patterson was nominated by W. O. Wallace of Columbiana, Cavanaugh by James E. Britt of Salem.

The Lisbon man is now serving the unexpired term of William C. Maple of Kensington, as coroner, having taken over the job Jan. 2 following Maple's resignation. Patterson will resign the post, also, upon receiving the secretary of state's confirmation as a member of the election board.

In this event he will begin his duties as a board member March 1, the term extending to Feb. 29, 1940.

Completing Fifth Term

The single-vote defeat brought to an end Cavanaugh's record of 20 years with the election board. He is now finishing his fifth term. The executive committee also endorsed President Roosevelt, Governor Davey, Congressman Lawrence Imhoff, and the candidates of County Recorder Jess Calhoun and Commissioners A. I. Getz and Frank Fisher.

Plans were outlined for a general meeting in March to complete a slate for the May primaries.

GENERAL STRIKE THREATENS CITY

1,500 Union Men Answer Call To Force Show- down at Pekin, Ill.

(By Associated Press)

PEKIN, Ill., Feb. 4.—Industrial paralysis threatened Pekin today as an estimated 1,500 union men answered the call for a general strike to force settlement of labor disputes at the American Distilling company.

A fuel shortage was seen as the first disruption of civic life. As the strike got under way, however, other vital services were not affected.

Craftsmen who refused to go to work today included truck drivers, motion picture operators, barbers, bartenders and carpenters.

The fuel shortage was seen as a result of the drivers of coal and oil trucks refusing to work.

The General Strike

The general strike was called by the trades and labor assembly. It would affect 3,000 union workers in this city of 17,000.

At Springfield Adjutant General Carlos E. Black said no national guard troops had been ordered to the scene, but said preparations for their movement were being made if their services are required.

The howitzer company of the 130th infantry, Illinois national guard, based at Mt. Vernon, 175 miles south of here, departed just shortly after midnight for nearby Peoria.

A crew of 25 WPA workers yesterday started the Hillsdale water line project in the southeast of the city which involves the laying of approximately 4,000 feet of pipe and the installation of fire plugs for additional fire protection.

The construction will extend from South Lundy ave., to South Lincoln ave., WPA foremen said today.

City Engineer F. S. Barkhoff said the Madison st., WPA water line project probably would be completed sometime this week. Ten men have been given employment on that job.

Another crew of WPA laborers have been at work on Franklin st., laying an eight-inch sanitary sewer, part of a blanket project which involves the laying of new sewer pipe on Franklin, Lundy and Bank sts.

Close to 100 men, taken from Salem's relief roster, have been employed during the winter on WPA projects in the city.

STATE REDUCES FERA DISTRICTS

J. A. Ferguson and Miss Mary Boyle Take Over Two More Counties

LISBON, Feb. 5.—J. A. Ferguson of Youngstown, former county relief director, now in charge of the FERA liquidation in the county, and Miss Mary Lee Boyle of Salem, case supervisor, have assumed similar duties in Jefferson and Harrison counties. Both officials spent Monday in the latter two counties.

Eliminates 24 Directors

The state FERA, now in process of liquidation, has eliminated 24 directors and has reduced its monthly budget $16,000, it has been revealed here by Dayton Frost, chief of the Ohio FERA offices.

Liquidation has progressed so far that the grouping of the 88 counties into 28 districts with directors and case supervisors, was advisable, both for economy and efficiency.

The schedule reveals there are now 52 county FERA directors and 52 case supervisors, and that the new program will cut the FERA liquidating budget for the current month to $88,000, and reduce the administrative staff throughout the state to a personnel of 750.

Further Reductions Seen

It has also been announced that during December, the Ohio FERA had a personnel of 2,500 and a budget of $300,000. Further reductions are expected within a month, it is said.

Only a skeleton force is now employed at the FERA office in the court house here.

Auditors from the Columbus FERA department are now working here, and as a result merchants have been asked to immediately forward their relief invoices for checking purposes, in order that such bills can be immediately paid.

SCHOOLS FACE JOB OF RAISING MORE REVENUE

$25,000 to $30,000 Needed As Result of New Foundation Law

DISCUSS PROBLEM AT BOARD MEET

Weaker Districts Aided; Stronger, In Meantime, Lose Money

The Salem public school district must raise an additional $25,000 to $30,000 in revenue in order to maintain its present limited program of education, Supt. E. S. Kerr told members of the board of education Monday night at the regular meeting of the board.

The superintendent's report was based on estimates of the Columbiana county budget commission, which met last week with Supt. Kerr and Clerk George Koonz.

New Law Is Cause

The situation has arisen as the result of the new and somewhat complex School Foundation law which went into effect throughout the state Jan. 1 of this year.

The Traxler-Kiefer-Matthews act, known as the School Foundation program, puts into effect the principle of state support for public schools.

Provisions of the law are such that school operations throughout the state are brought up to a minimum level. The so-called weak school districts are aided greatly. As a result, the stronger school districts, like Salem, lose financial assistance previously received.

Supt. Kerr pointed out that revenues from liquid fuel, state intangibles tax and several excise taxes no longer will be allocated, directly to the school districts.

Instead, they will flow into the state public school fund through which the School Foundation program will be administered.

Guaranteed Support

Under the new law, Supt. Kerr said, every school district in Ohio is guaranteed state support to the extent of $36.00 per year for each pupil in average daily attendance in grades one to eight, and $45.90 per year for each student in average daily attendance in grades nine to twelve.

In this connection it was announced that the average daily attendance in the elementary grades in Salem was 1,675 and in the High school, 833 last year.

In addition to the above mentioned state support, if a three-mill tax levied on the tax duplicate of

School Chieftain Will Attend Rally Of Educators Feb. 23

Supt. of Schools E. S. Kerr will attend a meeting of the department of superintendence of the National Education association in St. Louis, Mo., on Feb. 23.

The board of education, meeting Monday night in the High school, approved the trip.

The board also approved the use of the High school gymnasium on Feb. 21 and 22 for the Columbiana county Class B basketball tournament.

The board members granted a continuance of sick leave for Mrs. Jane Bennett, fourth grade teacher at McKinley school. Miss Dorothy M. Harroff, daughter of Mrs. Marguerite Harroff of 1135 East State st., was appointed to fill the vacancy for the remainder of the year.

Miss Harroff, an honor graduate of Salem High school, graduated from Wooster college last year.

The caulking of the windows at McKinley school and the pointing of cornices there have been completed by John Auld, contractor, the board announced.

Miss Elizabeth Steer, school nurse, reported 87 consultations with parents during January, 145 routine inspections, and 97 visits to homes. In addition, 39 schools were visited, first aid administered to 91 and five visits to physicians ordered.

Plan Organization Of "Gregg Artists"

Mrs. Franklin F. Wells, an instructor in the Salem Business college, has the distinction of organizing Salem's first Gregg Artists' club. These clubs are popular throughout the country among professional shorthand writers.

The purpose of such an association is to further the study of shorthand and office procedure among Gregg writers.

The first meeting will be called at 8 p. m. Friday in the college library. Anyone who is a business college graduate, or has had Gregg shorthand in a four-year college, and who has been employed in an office at least two years prior to this date, is eligible.

After the club is organized, it is planned that members meet once a week for round table discussions and dictation. No teacher is to be hired for any theory work, it being the plan to operate at the least possible expense. Membership will be limited according to the standards adopted by charter members.

NOT TO BE OVERLOOKED

Discussion of the Roosevelt administration's attitude toward the supreme court has drawn attention to the contrast between a government of laws and a government of men. Yet, the difference is not so sharp as it usually is made to appear when champions of the court describe it.

The court is composed of men whose interpretations of constitutional law frequently are fundamentally different. In the decision regarding constitutionality of the AAA, for instance, the minority viewpoint was favorable to the policy of the Roosevelt administration. Had the minority viewpoint been held by five justices instead of only three, the effect of the ruling would have been opposite to what it was.

The fact that members of the court, once a ruling has been made, abide thereafter by the ruling regardless of their previous opinions is a clear example of what is meant by a government of laws. It suggests an interesting possibility in connection with the supreme court's function in the next few years.

Death or retirement of two or more of the justices now on the supreme bench could alter the court's composition drastically. By appointing men who probably would be in harmony with what the new deal is attempting to do, President Roosevelt might be able to transform the court's present attitude into one which would be more favorable to his policies. The court's decisions in that case, very likely would incur the opposition of some of the same citizens who now praise them as safeguards against unwarranted excursions by the new deal into political fields forbidden to the federal government. The United States still would be preserving the tradition of a government of laws, but the influence of men would have changed drastically the interpretation of the laws.

EXPERTS CAN'T MEASURE IT

The country is full of talk about the money system. Many persons have assumed there will be sooner or later a disastrous climax of inflation. Others seem scarcely able to wait for the climax, because they apparently believe it will blast open the gateway to Utopia. The great majority, as usual, being neither frightened nor confident, are going along more or less placidly, depending on the judgment of money experts and officials to guide the nation through intricacies which they do not understand.

Echoes of their discussion are confusing. Experts argue about the relative merits of a gold base, a silver base and a commodity base. Inflationists shout their rosy promises. Anti-inflationists mean prophecies of disaster. Public officials seem to find it hard to choose among the doctrines of the academicians. Sometimes public confidence is shaken, when it seems the experts and officials are as puzzled as those whom they profess to be able to guide.

It is a reminder that the ultimate basis of any monetary system is confidence. All the formulas of the experts and the panaceas of the pill peddlers are but means of maintaining, creating or restoring confidence. They are good or bad, according to their success or failure. It is conceivable that a good remedy might fail because it lacked confidence or that a questionable remedy might seem to be effective because it inspired confidence. Yet, there is no way to measure confidence. It is in many ways an uncontrollable factor.

It consists in belief in the sanity and soundness of government. That is why a large national debt becomes dangerous when it begins to appear that the government lacks either the ability or the will to retire it. That is why questionable practices in government, if persisted in too long, affect the monetary system. That is why too many crackpot theories undermine stability. All of them affect confidence in one way or another. The United States will not have a disastrous inflation while it retains confidence. No one, not even inflationists, want a disaster. The disaster is the accidental result of disintegration of popular confidence.

THE STARS SAY

For Wednesday, February 5

According to the dominant planetary influences, this is to be a day of great enterprise and initiative, with much progress and success coming from the launching of new projects having the foundation of practical and constructive plans. There may be much labor and application involved in this, with some trivial obstructions or delays, but eventual success is assured. The personal life is also under happy auguries, despite a certain minor anxiety.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of much constructive work in the launching of new projects, and will find the spirit of initiative and enterprise under high tension and unusual stimuli. There may be slight obstacles or postponements, but these will be surmounted successfully. The private life promises much happiness, although with a trivial anxiety.

A child born on this day may be industrious, practical and creative, winning the support of its superiors by its initiative. It will be popular and happy.

O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—Isaac Marcossion is now the No. 1 traveling journalist and still on the go. Recently he left a high-ceiled old timer in Gramercy Park, where he had lived for years, for an apartment in the East 70's. His stays in town average about three months a year.

In world capitals, especially diplomatic circles, he is one of the better known Americans. Clemenceau called him "Marco," his name among intimates. As do Lloyd George and Herriot. He knew Hitler in his house-painting days and Mussolini when he edited a firebrand paper.

His collection of autographed pictures includes Rudyard Kipling, Oom Paul Kruger, Lord Northcliffe, King Edward, King Alfonso, Cecil Rhodes and scores of this magnitude. Experts say it is the most complete gallery of the famous ever owned by an individual. It will go eventually to the Metropolitan.

Marcossion is a red-haired native of Louisville, Ky., where his brother is a famous violinist. He began his newspaper career there, was one of the closest friends of David Graham Phillips, also his biographer. Sardonically he is like the Englishman who dresses for dinner in the jungle.

An address I have remembered since knee pants is in Hackensack, N. J. I remember because of an ad that used to thrill me in the Youth's Companion. An ad something like this: "Get Big Mail—Drop us a line sending dime and watch your mail grow. Wizard Novelty Co., Wizard Novelty Bldg., Department J, No. street Hackensack, N. J. In that city the other day I sought the address. We found it on the shabby fringe of a run down neighborhood. The Wizard Novelty Building was a one-story frame cottage, scarious and deserted. Paintly on an old and rusty tin sign could be discerned: Wizard Novelty Co. Last of the illusions!

Hendrick Willem Van Loon is a sucker for pea soup. His impressions of cities the world over depend largely on the quality of their pea soup. He may breakfast and lunch on this pottage and begin dinner with still another bowl. He knows all the excellent pea soup servers in New York, having searched for them as an antique dealer hunts a lost treasure. Van Loon has forewarned the radio and returns to writing books. A prodigious scribbler, he often turns out five and six volumes a year, some with his own illustrations. His pen and inks and water colors are highly bespoke by critics. He lives in Irving Bacheller's home in Riverside, Ct. and grows home sick for his native Holland at least twice a year.

Douglas Fairbanks, flashing through New York recently from European exile, seemed a far yelp from the dashing lover of the headlines. The almost inevitable weight of healthful middle years has beset and likely plagues him. The scalp hair line has receded. His eyes flash with something of the old beam but there's a suggestion of yearning, perhaps for pipe, slippers and fireside.

I never pass the faded gilt Puck statue still mounted over the musty Puck building on Lafayette street without a whirr of remembering when. To those of us in small towns Puck was an introduction to Zim's tramps. Plaggy's Nerry Nat, scintillating paragraphs by Gelett Burgess, Montague Glass and Ghetto poems by Myra Kelly. Puck had many editors who became famous. Theodore Dreiser, I believe, was one. To appear in Puck was a literary badge of distinction.

One of John Gilbert's most intimate friends in ascent and descent was James Quirk, film magazine editor. Their comradeship went back to the days when Gilbert was a tank trapper and Quirk a Boston reporter. Gilbert disliked New York and on his widely spaced visits spent most of his time loafing in Quirk's office. His idea of a good time was to have a few drinks and call up friends after midnight.

I remember Gilbert getting me on the phone about 3 o'clock one morning at the Biltmore in Los Angeles. I came up out of a heavy fog of sleep. "What's the idea?" he inquired. "Idea of what?" I mumbled. His jumble ran something like this: "Of you running around bragging that I said he was and you can't make a liar out of me." Naturally there was a silence while a hazy mind tries to fathom the meaning of something meaningless. Then he'd lash out with: "Trying to think up an alibi, eh?" It took at least two minutes to realize you were being kidded.

Tumors

Few persons realize how many important functions are possessed by the skin. It serves as a protective covering to the body and acts as a shield against injuries and infections. It contains many blood vessels, nerves, and glands and it serves also as a reservoir for nutritive substances.

Despite the elaborate architecture applied, the skin is subject to many disturbances, inflammations and infections. Swellings or tumors of the skin are a common complaint.

Do not let the word "tumor" confuse you. In reality, this word means "swelling" and is applied to any puffiness or growth of the skin. It does not mean cancer, although that may take the form of a swelling, when it is referred to as a "malignant tumor," and the harmless variety is spoken of as a "benign tumor."

In rare instances a benign tumor may become irritated and inflamed and develop into a cancer. For this reason, it is always wise and necessary not to neglect any tumor-like growth or, for that matter, any abnormality of the surface covering.

There are many forms of skin tumors. They vary in size, color and structure and range in size from that of a pin-point to a hazel nut. Sometimes a tumor of the skin may grow to an enormous size, possibly assuming a grotesque shape.

The size and shape of the tumor depends upon the part of the skin from which it arises. Probably you have seen persons with a round, fat swelling on the back, shoulder or arm. Such a tumor is composed of fat and is often referred to as a "fatty tumor." This is medically known as "lipoma."

A common swelling of the skin is due to a "sebaceous cyst." This type of tumor arises from one of the glands located in the skin. If the gland becomes irritated, and the duct or passageway which should carry away the substance formed within the gland is obstructed, a swelling forms. This is more commonly known as a "wen."

There are various other forms of tumors of the skin. Some are present at birth, in which case they are called "congenital tumors." Others appear after some irritation, infection or disturbance in the skin.

Often these swellings become very disfiguring and annoying. If they are located where they are easily irritated and inflamed by reason of pressure or friction, it is wise to have them removed.

In most instances the removal is simply, easily and painlessly accomplished. But under no circumstances should you depend upon home remedies or cosmetic preparations for the removal of a tumor of the skin.

Answers to Health Queries
Miss E. L. Q.—I am troubled with swelling of the legs—especially at night. What would cause this disturbance? I am 25 years of age.

INVESTMENTS

As evidence of the degree of liquidity that comes from the monthly payments that borrowers make on their loans, it may be noted that throughout this entire depression the cash withdrawals paid by this company have averaged better than a hundred thousand dollars per month. Every dollar of the money to meet these withdrawals was paid to the company in small sums by borrowers as payments on their loans, and it was paid out again in other small sums to an equally large number of people as withdrawals from their savings accounts.

"HIGH SCHOOL TRAGEDY"

by MAXINE CANTY

"I'm not sure I ought to tell you this," I said to Inspector O'Brien. "I am really rather scared."

SYNOPSIS

Julie Martin, she's all of 17, is a plaiting what happened after her French teacher, pretty Constance (Connie) Sinclair, was found shot dead at a desk in her (Miss Sinclair's) apartment. Julie has started her father and interests her father, a lawyer, by telling that she and her boy friend, Dicky Ward, had visited the apartment the previous afternoon, a few hours before the murder. She had returned a fountain pen which she had borrowed from Miss Sinclair. Newspaper reports make known that the teacher was slain about 10 o'clock that night. The police went to the apartment upon receipt of a mysterious telephone call informing them that Miss Sinclair had been slain. Julie's young brother, Allen, also a high school pupil, leaves breakfast table soon after the family starts discussing the murder. At the school later, Police Inspector O'Brien questions Julie concerning the return of the pen, basing his inquiry on notes made during an earlier examination of Mrs. Sardonio who conducted the apartment house tenanted by the slain teacher. Julie tells the Inspector that she talked with Miss Sinclair about a book. Principal Perkins remarks that he found the book on the teacher's school desk that morning and gets permission to turn it to the rental store. Mr. Wright, "the school's problem boy" and the last known caller on Miss Sinclair is killed in secret. The evening papers feature the victim's last letter, addressed to a "Dear George," who evidently was married. The news that the victim had vanished the night of the murder! That development was obscured temporarily by news that the police had found on Melvin a gun of the same caliber of that of the murder weapon. The victim's father arrived, inquiring for the late "Connie's" fiancé. Lloyd appeared for police examination, said the engagement in question had been broken, refused to answer questions concerning the missing "George," and declared he "could not say" where he was on October 20, the night of the murder. The mysterious "George" is identified as one Carrington, also reported to have been a former fiancé of "Connie." Julie's father becomes curious for the hand-some Bruce Lloyd, Julie recalls vividly the scene when she last saw "Connie," a book in one hand, a pen (now missing) in the other. Remembrance of Mrs. Sardonio's spider-web writing is also in her mind, as she goes on with her "inside" story:

CHAPTER VI

The next morning I went to school with these problems still involved. The kids were all talking about Carrington and Melvin. Opinion was pretty much divided, but most everyone thought Melvin was an egg, although very few said outright that they thought he committed the murder.

Carrington was considered more than the gossip angle; several thought his wife might have been the slayer. Carrington's description, wired the police from down the peninsula where he had been found, fitted that of the frequent visitor, which Mrs. Sardonio had furnished at this end. He was tall, dark, prosperous, and rather—well, lively. He was being brought to St. Joseph that day.

After school I was in the office usual when Mr. Perkins came. He had a book under his arm.

"By the way, Julie," said he, "would you do an errand for me?"

"Certainly, Mr. Perkins."

Then please return this book to the lending library at the hotel. The one called The Book Shop. You know, just say it was found here at school. Here is the bows on the desk, "I am not sure I ought to tell you this. I am really rather scared because I may get into an awful lot of trouble, and I may get someone else into it."

"I wouldn't worry a lot about that," he said comfortably. "Just tell me what you are thinking about."

"You remember," I said, taking a deep breath, "that you asked me what conversation I could recall having with Miss Sinclair that afternoon?"

"Yes."

"I told you she talked about a book, a biography of a man who wrote Moby Dick."

"Yes," the Inspector was smiling. I could see he was not taking me very seriously.

"Mr. Perkins said it was about Herman Melville."

"Yes."

"He said he had found it on her desk at school."

He nodded.

"He gave it to me to return to the Corner today. I looked at it on the way. Inspector, Miss Sinclair had that book in her hand when we were there that afternoon!"

O'Brien sat up. His eyes were keen and his voice harsh as I had heard it once before. "You are sure of that?"

"Positive. She showed us a picture in the front."

"Then how did the book get to the school between then and the next morning?"

"If she had lent it to the teachers across the hall, there is no reason why they should have sneaked it down to her desk at school. Melvin is hardly the type who would have taken it to read. So someone else must have been there that evening that we don't know about!" I finished triumphantly.

"How many people have you told this story to?"

"No one but you."

"Not your father? Not the boy friend?"

"No. On my word of honor."

"Miss Julie, if you continue this discretion, you will be a rare woman. Suppose you keep silent a little longer. And if you think of anything more, come to see me."

"I will, Mr. O'Brien, there is something else I want to know."

"Ask me, my dear."

"I want to remember where I have seen Mrs. Sardonio's funny writing before."

He smiled again, evidently thinking I was fancying myself a real sleuth. "That kind of writing is very common in Europe, especially in Italy where it is taught in many of the convents."

"Did Mrs. Sardonio come from Europe, from Italy?"

"I don't know; I suppose so."

"Is she a Catholic?"

"Why, I don't know that either."

"It's strange," I said. "I am, and I suppose you are; at least I've seen you in church. But I have never seen her there, have you?"

"No, but there are many backsliders, little Julie. Don't worry your pretty head about Mrs. Sardonio's religion."

I smiled and got up to go. The phone on the desk rang. The Inspector talked to someone from his office. When he put up the receiver he said to me, "Miss Julie, for your good evening's work I'll give you a little advance information. George Carrington has arrived at last. He seems to have a perfect alibi for Thursday night, but he says his wife left him the Sunday before, and he hasn't seen her since!"

An anti-crime picture, vivid and exciting, and a clever comedy make up the double feature bill at the State for Tuesday and Wednesday.

Rochelle Hudson and Edward Norris portray two innocent victims of the cruelty of underworld racketeers in "Show Them No Mercy". Bruce Cabot and Cesar Romero are cast as two gangsters.

Held By Gangsters

In the story, Miss Hudson and Norris, two happily married people, with their baby, are driving through a rainy night when their automobile stalls. Taking refuge in a supposedly deserted farm house, they are surprised to find it stocked with food and supplies. The gangsters are discovered. Cabot, Romero with Walter Hymer and Edward Brophy making up the foursome. These two innocent young people have discovered the gangsters' hideout and are made to suffer for their discovery since it would not be safe to let them go free.

Norris is used by the racketeers to pass the "hot" money which loads the G men on the trail. In the meantime the baby has grown seriously ill and Romero urges immediate extinction for all three of them. Their apprehension is finally caused by Norris' dog who pays with his life but saves his master and family.

"Soak the Rich" is the comedy starring Walter Connolly. John Howard and Mary Taylor are also in the cast with him. Connolly plays a cantankerous millionaire with troubles caused by his indigestion, his wife, his daughter and particularly, "a soak the rich" tax bill, which his morning paper says congress is sure to pass.

Daughter On Scene

His daughter Belinda comes from Europe with the idea of going back to school. She thinks it would be fun to enter Craig university, now a center for a radical group of students led by John Howard. It turns out to be more than fun for the girl when she gets mixed up with every type of organization even to being kidnapped by an anarchist who styles himself, "the society for the abolition of monstrosities". Howard, a great "soak the rich" agitator, falls in love and marries the girl the daughter of one of the wealthiest families in the country.

The story was written and produced by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur with clever dialog and interesting comedy. They have turned out such hits as "The Front Page", "Twentieth Century", "Barbary Coast", "Crime Without Punishment" and "The Scoundrel".

the sale of linoleum. We only know that we were delighted with what we saw, also that we were amazed to find how inexpensive are these new and lovely patterns and clever ideas.

The plain linoleums of solid color, set off by stylized borders, that were once so expensive, have been drastically reduced. This is because these borders which had to be specially ordered and cut, can now be ordered ready from the factory. The strips give the effect of the custom made variety and are beautifully cut and inlaid, and come ready to be installed, and in varying widths. There is a ready-made Grecian design done in black and in dark brown and tan.

well as center or all-over designs. It is interesting to see the plain linoleum first, then to see the designs cut-out and the various colored pieces fitted in.

We have written at length on the marvelous new linoleum with the adhesive backing, which, when dampened with water and a large brush, may be cemented directly to the floor. The adhesive dries almost immediately, and after the linoleum is walked over and pressed down by the foot the furniture may be moved into place. And if this isn't a boon, we don't know what is!

Ohio's Contribution To Music Listed in Club Paper

Music Is Central Theme at Meeting of Book Club; Salem's Own Contributions Also Stressed

The violin, pipe organ and harp are the favorite musical instruments of members of the Salem Book club, members revealed yesterday when they responded to the roll call, "My Favorite Musical Instrument," during the meeting in the library assembly room.

The program yesterday was on "Music" and opened with a piano arrangement, "Impromptu" (Schubert) and "Three Melodies" (Mozart). Mrs. W. D. King had a paper on "The Art of Enjoying Music," in which she said that correct, intelligent listening will enable anyone to enjoy good music. She explained that music is being made more and more a part of school work for children, training them to enjoy and appreciate good music.

Mrs. Edgar F. Miller and Mrs. Richard Fitzpatrick, accompanied by Mrs. Virginia L. Feiger, all of Columbiana, sang a number, attired in Colonial costumes.

Mrs. R. H. McConner, in her paper, "Ohio's Contribution to Music," named many Ohio men and women who became famous in the musical world. Among them are named John L. Severance of Cleveland, who died a short time ago after building beautiful Severance Hall, Cleveland music center, as a memorial to his wife. Others were Oly Speaks, composer of the well-known "Sylvia" and "On the Road to Mandalay," who was born at

SAFETY IS JOB FOR EVERYBODY

Cooperation Is Essential In Accident Drive, Morris Says

Pedestrians and automobile drivers alike must assume responsibility for the reduction of automobile accidents, declared Albert P. Morris, manager of the Columbiana County Motor club, in a talk on "Street and Highway Safety" at a Parent-Teacher association meeting at Pleasant Heights school in East Liverpool last night.

By means of charts it was shown that nearly 50 per cent of the total killed last year were pedestrians, and that nearly half of them were attempting to cross in the middle of the block, instead of at a regular crossing. The speaker further emphasized that seven per cent of those killed at crossings were disobeying signals. Another point stressed was that among those automobiles involved in accidents, most were out of control or, in Morris' own words, "a large number of drivers are unable to judge speed and distance, which is particularly true when they drive at the faster speeds."

The school teachers of the country were lauded for efforts which have resulted in a reduction of accidents in the grade school group and the speaker pleaded for a full cooperation of parents with teachers in furthering this reduction.

An enlarged safety program which would include high school students by which the youth of the land would be prepared for the serious responsibility of operating a motor vehicle, was advocated by Morris.

"The drunken driver and the deliberately reckless must be treated accordingly," Morris warned. "A jail sentence and revocation of license constitute the best cure. But 95 per cent of the motorists and pedestrians want to be careful and obey our traffic laws. It is up to each community by a system of education on highway and street safety, and a planned system of enforcement, to bring about a reduction in automobile accidents and deaths. It can be done."

LAUNCH PROBE IN FATAL FIRE

Incendiarism Is Hinted As 7 Bodies Are Recovered In Ruins

SAN BERNADINO, Calif., Feb. 4.—Possible incendiarism was considered by officials today as they hunted for additional bodies in the charred ruins of a Parker dam construction camp dormitory where at least seven men died in a raging fire yesterday.

Twenty one of the 140 housed in the dormitory still were unaccounted for. Four others were near death from burns suffered when fire ravaged the building while they slept.

May Have Left Camp
Officials said it was possible a number of the missing men had escaped from the burning building and left camp without notifying those in charge.

The possibility that a disgruntled workman may have fired the building was investigated by Norman P. Henderson, San Bernardino district attorney's investigator.

A threat against officials of the camp was made three weeks ago by a workman who was elected for intoxication, Henderson reported. He said attendants had noticed the same man in camp shortly before yesterday's fire.

Recent attempts by radicals to spread labor discontent among the employees of the six companies, contractors for the Colorado river project, were recalled by officials today but they insisted no one was under suspicion.

Pumps were set up today to drain the dormitory's flooded basement where investigators said several men may have been trapped as they raced through the smoke choked halls of the building.

Three of the seven bodies recovered were so badly burned officials doubted if identification ever could be made positive. The others were listed as Harold Herman, San Bernardino; Joe Peterson, Boulder City, Nev.; Otto Doran, Parker, Ariz., and Albert Johnson, Los Angeles.

Name Berrodin Aid

COLUMBUS, Feb. 4.—Directorship of the state old age pension system probably will rest in the hands of Matthew L. Brown of Springfield until Henry J. Berrodin, the director, recovers from injuries sustained in an automobile accident last week.

Gov. Martin L. Davey said he probably would appoint Brown to take charge of the department temporarily. Brown was the division's first director.

Newspaperman Dies

CLEVELAND, Feb. 4.—Jesse H. Webb, 67, market editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, who was killed yesterday afternoon in a plunge from a downtown hotel room where he had been staying, will be buried tomorrow afternoon in Washington Court House, where he was born. A note in the room directed that he be buried there. He had been in the newspaper business for nearly 50 years.

"Sit Down" At End

AKRON, Feb. 4.—Officials of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. said today threat of any further "sit down" protest by workers appeared improbable.

A two-hour protest by 100 pit workers yesterday ended when the company announced that piecework rate reductions would not be altered. A later shift worked without halting.

Farmers Are Looking With Favor On Proposed "Little AAA" for Ohio

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Feb. 4.—Ohio's proposed "Little AAA," Prof. H. C. Ramsower said today, has had a "great reception" from farmers throughout the state.

Ramsower, director of the Ohio State university agricultural extension, said some farmers had already adopted the fundamental phases of the program of fertility conservation and prevention of erosion and many others were ready to cooperate in the proposed voluntary program.

"The problem of how to get it done remains, of course," Ramsower said, "but I think we'll get results."

Explanation Meetings
Extension specialists and county agents have held meetings to explain the proposal in every county and plan follow-up meetings soon.

The "Little AAA," designed as a substitute for the recently invalidated agriculture adjustment act, would unite farmers of Ohio and neighboring states in a voluntary program to regulate crops according to the needs of the soil.

Curtailment of certain crops would be asked if their continued cultivation threatened to impair the soil.

"We'll undoubtedly have to deal with some chisellers," Ramsower said, "but they'll lose in the long run through deterioration of their soil. A man might make a little more money immediately by refusing to curtail some crops, but this is a long-time program."

There has been some discussion of money grants to cooperating farmers, he said, but nothing had been decided.

GOLD TRICKLES FROM AMERICA

Amid Inflation Moves, Yellow Metal Goes To France, Holland

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Gold began to trickle away today from America's $10,000,000,000 reservoir of the yellow metal, leading to speculation as to whether the inflation drive in congress would be checked.

Secretary Morgenthau announced yesterday that banks had asked and received treasury licenses to ship $5,000,000 in gold from the United States to France and Holland.

This development, reversing a westward flow which had brought $2,000,000,000 of gold from Europe to the United States in 16 months, was linked with current demands by congressional inflationists that the treasury print paper money to pay off the bonus, finance farm subsidies, and aid distressed agricultural debtors.

Whether the comparatively tiny shipments were the forerunner of a sizeable outgo was a subject of guessing. Experts said that often, when such a movement starts, it tends to gain momentum.

On the other hand, some felt that the treasury's readiness to meet demands for export licenses might check the movement. Secretary Morgenthau, who explained briefly that the French franc had risen to the point where banks could profit by exporting gold, said that if this situation continued further, shipments would be permitted as long as present exchange mechanisms are undisturbed.

If such licenses were refused, informed students of the subject said, the United States would thereby go off the present "gold bullion" standard, leaving the dollar without its "anchor" in gold. There was no indication anywhere that such a refusal was a possibility, all recent monetary developments point in the other direction.

Since inflationists have been pointing to the huge supply of gold in the country and declaring that new money should be issued against the "idle" metal, there was discussion here as to whether an outflow of gold might tend to curb their campaign.

License Mailing Hampered by Rush

LISBON, Feb. 5.—County Auditor John H. Irwin today informed all dog license agencies that, owing to the large number of applications received, mailing of licenses was not as prompt as had been desired.

"We are mailing the last of the licenses today," Auditor Irwin said.

He also called attention of the agencies to a ruling of the attorney general, that a penalty of $1 must now be collected on every license issued. It has been pointed out, however, that no license is required for a dog three months old or under; dogs purchased from a kennel within the last 30 days, or for dogs brought into Ohio from another state.

Leap Year Girls More Aggressive

CLEVELAND, Feb. 4.—The girls—you have Marriage Clerk Frank Zizelman's word for it—are taking advantage of leap year.

"They speak up louder this year and they tell what they want," he said today.

"Both parties must come in person when making an application. After the five-day wait, the women even come in alone for the license!"

Zizelman has been cupid's right hand man in Cleveland since 1899, when he assumed his duties as marriage license clerk.

"January was a big month," he gleamed, "109 more licenses than January of last year. Last year we issued 412, this year 521."

"Leap year is going to be a big help this year in passing last year's total of 7,716. Leap year and better times. February's going to be a big month, too."

BRITISH STUDY DEFENSE PLANS

First Parliament Under New Reign Convenes Without Ceremony

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The first parliament of the reign of King Edward VIII assembled without ceremony today, launching its deliberations to strike squarely into the problem of increasing the national defenses.

Under the shadow of persistent international tension, armaments and how to pay for them constituted the new session's principal business, with a number of important domestic issues crowding closely behind them.

A royal message, replying to the parliamentary condolences for the death of King George V, was sent by King Edward to be read in the house of commons.

Parliamentary sources looked for Anthony Eden to explain them, in his first speech to the house as foreign secretary, the latest developments of the government's policy of backing the League of Nations in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict.

The new foreign secretary also was likely to face a barrage of questions from parliament members concerning his talks with European diplomats last week after the funeral of King George.

Parliament had adjourned just before Christmas and, save for a special meeting after the death of King George to express its sorrow and to take the oaths of allegiance to the new king-emperor, it had not met since then.

Davey Praises State Bank Department

COLUMBUS, Feb. 4.—Gov. Martin L. Davey in his fireside radio talk last night described the work of the state banking department last year as "one of the most interesting stories of administrative achievement" in the state government.

He said the department had saved hundreds of thousands of dollars for Ohio bank depositors through efficient liquidation and reorganization of closed institutions.

The governor commended the administration of the banking department during the term of former Gov. George White. He said that "in fairness, it should be said that the previous administration made a creditable showing, under the most difficult circumstances that ever encompassed the banking situation in Ohio."

LIGGETT CASE NEARING CLOSE

Witnesses Testify That Kid Cann's Machine Killed Editor

(By Associated Press)
MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 4.—Prosecutors of Isadore (Kid Cann) Blumenfeld, charged with the machine gun assassination of Walter Liggett, publisher of a weekly newspaper, said they expected to complete their case today.

The state was still undecided whether it would call Wallace Liggett 12 son of the slain editor, to testify.

Two witnesses, Mrs. Liggett, the widow, and Wesley Andersch, 36, a salesman, both claiming to be eyewitnesses of the slaying on Dec. 9, testified that the person who manned the machine gun was Kid Cann.

The widow testified yesterday, "The murder could not have been committed without Governor Olson's permission. She explained her statement as meaning that members of Governor Olson's gang had ordered or permitted" the killing.

Governor Floyd B. Olson, from a hospital bed in Rochester, Minn., did not comment on her charges, saying, "they're trying the case up there in Minneapolis. I have no statement to make." The governor had been a frequent target of attack by Liggett in his newspaper, the Midwest American.

Mrs. Liggett collapsed outside of court after her first cross-examination yesterday. In the afternoon she was on the verge of hysteria again, but retained her composure.

cient additional state support to bring its financial operating program up to these levels.
Salem, under this stipulation, will be unable to participate in this additional support.
In school districts like Salem where transportation of pupils is necessary, a state-approved cost of such transportation is paid by the state to the school district.
And in districts where no high school is maintained, the high school tuition of resident pupils is paid by the state to the district where the pupils attend high school.
The rate of tuition is fixed for each high school by the state.

Widow Of Master Swindler Of France Starts Anew As Night Club Chorine

Mme. Stavisky Seeks to Recoup Fortune Lost When Husband Ended Life After Gigantic Fraud Was Uncovered

Scene at her trial. Mme. Stavisky in her dressing room.

By JEAN ALLEN
International Illustrated News Writer
NEW YORK—Mme. Arletta Stavisky—one of the most glamorous figures of modern France—is writing a new chapter to her sensational past and career by appearing as an entertainer at the French Casino in New York.
Even blasé Broadway has been aroused to interest by her beauty and dramatic life history. While few would be inclined to consider her an entertainer of very unusual ability, she herself is such a figure of interest that her American debut has been most successful.
Mme. Stavisky is the widow of Serge Stavisky, the French pawn-broker whose alleged swindles led him to take his own life and almost brought France to revolution.
When Stavisky first met the handsome Arletta, she was a model for Chanel in Paris. Born Arletta Simon, she came from modest circumstances and, up to the time of her meeting with the "financial Napoleon" of France, appeared destined for a life but little out of the ordinary.
Her marriage to him, however,
introduced her to luxury and fabulous wealth. She became "the toast of Paris" and was showered with furs and jewels, found her attentions sought by some of the highest officials of France.
It was when the police started investigating the structure of her husband's financial empire, that her "golden romance" came to sudden disaster.
When authorities closed in on Stavisky, he fled to an isolated chateau in the Alps and there ended his life with a bullet rather than face the investigation. Such was the dramatic finale of life for a man who had been the intimate of high officials, royalty, international bankers and society leaders.
Exonerated At Trial
His death and subsequent disclosures about his activities created scandal which shook the government to its foundations, caused the

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ON REQUEST.

Dodge reports for the thirty-seven states east of the Rockies recorded for the year 1935 aggregate construction contracts of approximately 1,844,545,000 or twenty percent increase over the preceding year. An encouraging feature of this report was the fact that public works contracts were seven percent less than 1934, showing that the gain was accounted for by private undertakings. In spite of the fact that residential building increased ninety-two percent over 1934, contracts in force at the end of the year and other indications point to a substantial increase in residential building in 1936.
Other fields of building activity offer less promise than residential building. Outlook for public works is obscured by political uncertainties and the lack of confidence in the Administration in Washington on the part of business and financial interests will be a deterrent to a normal industrial expansion. Both fields, however, should show a gain and it is estimated that for all types of building, contract awards may reach an aggregate approximately thirty percent greater than last year. This volume would still be only fifty percent of so-called normal activity, indicating that under proper conditions, political and otherwise, the building industry still has a brilliant future.
An investor anxious to participate in building recovery is baffled by the very high price earnings ratio of the leading building stocks at today's market. Some of these have no doubt discounted all the improvement that can be anticipated for 1936. A careful search, however, will reveal some attractive, individual situations.

VICTORY MOVES OLD TIMERS TO TOP OF LEAGUE

Veterans Are Assured of At Least A Tie For Round Honors

The Old Timers perched themselves at the top of the Class A city basketball league and assured themselves of at least a tie for the first round championship when they chalked up a 31 to 23 victory over the Saxons in a loosely-played contest at the Memorial building last night.

With the first round in the senior loop coming to a close this week only the Columbians, who tangled with the Trojans Wednesday night, can wrest the championship from the Old Timers quintet. The Columbian cagers have won five and lost one of their league games to date and a victory Wednesday would throw them into a tie with the Old Timers who have six victories and one defeat to their credit.

Look Like Winner

The veterans looked like a certain winner during the first period of their contest last night, when they held a 15-point lead but the steady scoring of the Saxons cut down their advantage and in the latter two periods they were pressed hard in order to gain the verdict.

The Old Timers led, 21 to 13, at the intermission and, 24 to 23, at the end of the third quarter. Older, Sanders and Campbell shared scoring honors with eight points each. In the other Class A contest last night, the Hinton Plumbers made a determined effort to move out of the cellar position by tripping Winona's quintet, 17 to 14. A second half spurt did the trick for the Plumbers, who trailed, 12 to 8, at halftime.

Sutter looked best for the Winona five while Pukalski was outstanding for the Plumbers.

BOSTON SIGNS "GLOOMY GIL"

Eagles' Hopes Soar When Dobie Is Hired As Grid Mentor

NEWTON, Mass., Feb. 4.—Boston college's football pendulum, may be ready to swing high again with Gil Dobie generating the force.

Since a announcement that "Gloomy Gil" had transferred from Cornell to B. C., the Eagles' hopes have soared high as under the late Major Frank Cavanaugh, whose teams were great ones a decade and a half ago.

Impressive Eagles—rated last fall as one of the most promising freshman teams seen here in years—are coming along to help boost B. C. hopes.

Whether the "old college try" of these youngsters and the possibly improved morale of the remaining lettermen will produce winning football under Dobie is all the talk hereabouts.

Other changes in the coaching staff are likely before football time arrives again.

With the long-time policy of graduate coaching in the discard, and Dobie signed, 25-year-old Harro Fowkes was demoted to an assistant coachship. A post he has indicated he will not accept.

COLUMBIANA TO FACE BULLDOGS IN COURT GAME

Jimmy Wiand's cage team Has Possible Chance to Win League Title

COLUMBIANA, Feb. 4.—With a season's record of 10 victories out of 12 games to date, Coach Jimmy Wiand's Columbiana High school basketball team approaches the last two games of the regular season with every reason to believe that they have an excellent chance to capture the Tri-County League honors.

Although beaten by Perry Vaz-Hyning's East Palestine team, the red and white has been greatly strengthened by the return of Liston and has developed into a high-scoring machine during the past two weeks. It is predicted that with good weather, the largest delegation of Columbiana fans in years will make the trip to East Palestine Friday night.

The previous game between these two clubs at Columbiana was an "extra" and did not count in the Tri-County standings.

If C. H. S. can get by East Palestine, only Sebring will remain on the regular schedule before entering the county Class "B" tournament which this year, in charge of Salineville, will be staged in the Salem High school gym. Feb. 21-22. Incidentally, Columbiana is the only team of Class "B" ranking in the membership of the Tri-County League, all the other schools having much larger enrollments.

Last week's one-sided victory over Minerva by a 37-20 score was somewhat of a surprise, as the visitors were figured to be on an equal basis with Wiand's lads. The game was loosely played, both teams missing many shots under the basket.

The league scoring star, Richard, "Sonny" Fisher was closely blanketed all evening by the Minerva guards and was held to 7 points, which boosted his season record to 125 points.

Unger was the scoring star with 14 points, with Manchester playing the best floor game and scoring 9 points. The guarding of Liston, Logan and Fullerton was very effective. Columbiana also had an edge in foul-shooting making 9 out of 16 attempts, while Minerva only placed 4 out of 13.

Reading Between The Sport Lines

with Eddie Brietz, Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cards want Curt Davis... but not the $125,000 price the Phillies have set for their star right hander... Prexy Gerry Nugent should remember that Tom Yawkey operates only in the American league... Wonder what's that "important announcement" Col. Jake Ruppert is issuing at 3 p. m.?

Has he bought somebody?... That would be news.

When the Cunnel comes all the way down town from the brewery to personally supervise a press notice, you can bet greenbacks are involved... This Willis Hudlin shoots a 69 just like nothing had happened, doesn't he?

Not to Young Umpires: By all means try to get into the International league... Already this winter, the Ints have sold two umpires... Tiny Parker and Cal Hubbard... to the majors... And may peddle off Van Grafflin before the week is over.

Carl Shavely "strongly intimates" to the Raleigh Times that this corner was wrong in saying he was refraining from signing that new five year contract at North Carolina until the Southern conference acts on that Graham anti-subsidization plan... But you'll note he doesn't deny it... Meantime, the contract continues to repose in the old pigeon hole.

Note to Jimmy Braddock and Joe Gould (Miami News please print): Thanks for that article of fruit... Jimmy Jones and Bill Cox, Richmond and Norfolk sports eds (but both important Virginians) delighted New York scribes at the baseball dinner with their "Yew all-ing"... Boy, it was like getting a mess of smoked sausage from home... Come again, say we.

votes in the poll, that these five merited places in the Memorial hall to be erected at Cooperstown, N. Y., in time for the game's centennial in 1939. Each easily amassed the necessary three-fourths of the ballots cast without difficulty.

There was no such agreement, however, on 45 others, some of them still active, and their names will again be presented for next fall's poll, probably with many additions. Henry P. Edwards, American league secretary, conducted the poll.

RIGHT FIELD IS COMEBACK SPOT

Patrol Position Offers Chance to Wounded or Off-Form Players

By ALAN GOULD, Associated Press Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Among other things, the right field patrol offers an excellent chance for several of the wounded or missing to make come-backs along the major league baseball front this spring.

Outstanding in this respect are Wally Moses of the Athletics, Bruce Campbell of the Cleveland Indians, and Chuck Klein of the Chicago Cubs.

Recovery Means Job

Moses, freshman sensation among American league outfielders last season, and Campbell, obtained by the Tribe from St. Louis, both were hitting at a 325 clip when forced out of action. Moses broke an arm in mid-season and Campbell was taken dangerously ill with meningitis. Full recovery for both will mean regular jobs again.

Klein, one-time batting king who became a $125,000 benchmark last year after falling off to .293 at bat, hopes to pick up where he left off in the world series. An accident to Fred Lindstrom gave Chuck his chance to show a burst of old-time power.

The subsequent release of Lindstrom indicates the Cubs will start off with Klein at his old stand, in right field, and Frank Demaree shifting to center.

Except for standbys such as Paul Waner of the Pirates, John Moore of the Phillies, Mel Ott of the Giants, and Pete Fox of the World Champion Tigers, there's a scramble for right field jobs.

Still Miss Ruth

The Yankees still are troubled with the situation created by the passing of the one and only Babe Ruth. Young George Selkirk did a fair job of replacement last season but Roy Johnson, part Indian from Oklahoma, shuttled to the big town from Boston by way of Washington, will get first call this season.

Taking their cue from the Cardinals, the Red Sox may experiment with the speedy Bill Werber, a

Trade Rumors Circulated At National League Meet

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Rumors of numerous trades flew through the air as the bigwigs of the National Baseball league assembled for their annual meeting today.

The 1936 schedule was to be released but the chief interest was in what players, if any, were swapped around, bought or sold, when the magnates took stock of each other's ivory.

Prominent Rumors

Prominent among the rumors was that the St. Louis Cardinals would trade Parmelee, Orsatti and cash to the Phillies for Curt Davis, but Gerry Nugent of the Phils said last night he hadn't "heard" of it.

Bill Terry of the New York Giants and Casey Stengel of the Brooklyn Dodgers discussed a deal that wasn't announced in its entirety. Whatever it was Casey was not sold in it. Terry offered $20,000 and a player for Sam Leslie, but when he whispered the name of the player the deal was off.

Hal Schumacher signed a contract with the Giants yesterday, thereby taking one worry from Terry's mind. The pitcher, married Saturday was on his way to Miami third baseman, in right field, Mel Almada and Dusty Cooke also will be available for the tryouts at Sarasota.

Otherwise, in the American league, the starting right-fielders likely will include Vernon Washington for the White Sox, Ed Coleman for the Browns, and Jonathon Stone for Washington's Senators.

Handsome Hal won 19 and lost 9 and had an earned run average of 2.89 as compared with Hubbell's 23 victories and 12 defeats with an earned run average of 3.27.

There was much conjecture as to the nature of an announcement to be made by Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, this afternoon. The colonel said he would give out the dope in person and in the past such a procedure meant that he had something important to say.

First of Reds Will Leave for Camp Soon

CINCINNATI, Feb. 4.—The first contingent of the Cincinnati Reds to head for spring training in Puerto Rico packed their bags today, for departure from New York Thursday, for San Juan.

Manager Charlie Dressen and Pitcher St. Johnson awaited arrival of a half a dozen other team-members, and they will be joined in Cleveland by Gilly Campbell, catcher.

The first group is scheduled to arrive on the island, Feb. 10.

High Quintet's Third Out-of-Town Contest Scheduled For Friday

Quakers Meet St. Vincent's Basketeers On Akron Court; Will Play Youngstown Rayen Five Here Saturday

There's no let-up for the Salem High school Quaker basketball team this week. That is, unless you consider Akron St. Vincent and Youngstown Rayen "push-over" opponents.

Up until last Friday night just another average team, the Quakers climbed into the "mean to handle" class when they surprised most of the district's dopesters and perhaps even themselves by upsetting Warren's crack quintet to bring their season's record to five games won as against five lost.

Now confronted with the task of defending their sudden flash in power the Quakers journey to Akron Friday night for their third out-of-town engagement of the season against St. Vincent High school cagers and then return home for a Saturday night contest at the high school gymnasium with Youngstown Rayen.

Whether the Quakers' surprise victory over Warren was an indication of their real strength, merely a desperate attempt to rise from the ranks of defeat, aided by the blessings of "dame fortune" will come to light this week. Both St. Vincent and Rayen, although not classed among the district's best, are number one hard wood teams.

One of the biggest difficulties which the Quakers will have to overcome when they meet St. Vincent is the lack of experience on a foreign court. Only two of the past ten games have been played away from home, one at Boardman and the other at East Palestine.

Playing on their home floor most of the time makes the Quakers accustomed to one court and to general who teams who do this become lost when they play on foreign hardwoods.

Still another difficulty confronting the Quakers Friday night is against St. Vincent, well regarded Quakers performed well against Warren's tall cagers and it is possible that they may do even better against St. Vincent's, but regardless, the taller the opponents, the harder they are to out down.

One of the Quakers who may face a stiff assignment Friday night is Max Lutch. In all probability Lutch will have to cover Spallina, the Saints' center, and leading scorer. Spallina is used by Coach Eddie Wentz on the pivot and his consistent scoring comes from his ability at this position.

Should the Quakers come out on top Friday they will encounter a team of practically equally caliber in meeting Youngstown Rayen at the high school Saturday night. Rayen has had somewhat of an erratic season with most of its victories registered over non-wood strong teams. The Youngstowners play two games before they hit the Quakers, facing Sharon tonight and Girard Friday.

Buckeyes Lose

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Feb. 4.—Ohio State university cagers lost their second straight game here last night when Purdue won its fifth straight with a 48 to 27 decision.

Four Ohio men—Whitlinger, De Raudebaugh and McDonald—were ousted for personal fouls.

Recorder's Office Registers Profit

LISBON, Feb. 4.—During the fiscal year ending Jan. 7, last, records of the county recorder's office showed a net profit of approximately $1,068. It was announced today by County Recorder Jess F. Calhoun.

The report shows, during this fiscal period, the filing of 11,146 chattel mortgages, 2,043 deeds, 924 leases, 1,354 mortgage releases, 1,135 agents' licenses and 170 miscellaneous documents.

Increased buying of automobiles, radios, refrigerators, furniture and household equipment is reflected in the large number of chattel mortgages filed. That 1,354 mortgages were cancelled during the year is taken to mean that obligations were discounted because of the upturn in general business conditions.

A Review of the Day's News

By Arthur Brisbane

OUR ARMY, experimenting theoretically with bombing planes over Michoud Field, found it easy to destroy that "bulwark of the aerial defense of New York City." The air field "was theoretically destroyed," and "the fireproof hangars and barracks, constructed at a cost of nearly $5,000,000, were all theoretically "wiped out."

If real war came and this country were found unprepared as it is now, there would be nothing "theoretical" about the "wiping out" and foreign bombers would not limit their activities to the Michoud Air Field. They would move on to New York, Washington, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston and other more important points. This has been said often but, apparently, not often enough.

EASTERN PEOPLE are supposed to be "impassive," all emotion controlled, Japanese especially; and they are, as we see them here. At home it is otherwise. Gen. Aizawa, who murdered Gen. Nagata "for the good of the emperor," he said, burst into tears at his trial twice in one day, once when the prosecutor showed him letters written by two young school girls in their own blood, demanding his acquittal. Ladies here sometimes sympathize with criminals, send them flowers, but never write about it in their own blood. The East feels intensely.

AMERICAN financial enterprises seem to be almost "far flung" as King's imperial battle line.

In China, Mr. F. J. Raven, born in California, married the "daughter of a wealthy missionary family." You wonder how the missionary family got wealthy and then follow Mr. Raven as he builds up gigantic financial institutions in China: The American-Oriental Banking Corporation, the American-Oriental Finance Company, the Raven Trust Company, the Asia Realty Company, etc.

They have all crashed together, depositors got 7 1/2 per cent, may get 20, no more stockholders got nothing, thousands ruined.

THAT IS easy enough, here at home, but it must take unusual ability to go and do it in China, in the Chinese language.

Of Mr. Raven it must be added that he always "continued to engage in church activities."

THE WISE British, playing chess, with Continental powers as chessmen, suddenly turn with affectionate interest, to Russia. Her building of airplanes and submarines and her standing army of 1,300,000 men, well armed, interest the British.

Mr. Eden even favors a British government loan, plus commercial credit, for Russia. While polite with Germany, England thinks that close relations with Russia might check Germany usefully.

HOW SOON will Japan and Russia settle their misunderstandings? Japan now admits a rebellion among her Manchukuoan subjects, 10 Japanese soldiers killed.

After Japan's Manchukuo and Chinese subjects revolt, in Manchukuo, they simply cross the border into Russia where Japan cannot get them; most annoying for Japanese discipline.

SUNDAY was Groundhog Day, when, tradition says, the groundhog comes out of his hole. If the sun is shining and he sees his shadow, he goes back to stay six weeks longer, the duration of winter.

In New York, where this is written, there was enough sunshine, cold weather and snow to send the groundhog back into his hole and make him dig it deeper.

Tradition, a little loose, does not say just where the prophetic groundhog is supposed to live. In California, along the Gulf Coast and in Florida he can stay out of his hole all the year 'round.

IN MEXICO, oil workers on strike have an ingenious idea that might appeal to strikers elsewhere, if the courts would oblige.

Mexico's strikers, including those working on American and other foreign enterprises, walk out, work shuts down. And the Mexican courts decide that employers must pay full wages to 45 per cent of the strikers "to look after the properties."

The fact that owners would rather look after their own properties in their own way makes no difference.

Students' Strike Ended As School Head Is Suspended

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE Feb. 4.—A strike of half of Washington Court House High school's 500 pupils ended today with the temporary suspension of Supt. A. D. St. Clair.

The students had demanded St. Clair's ouster before returning to classes, which they refused to attend yesterday.

Dr. Fred D. Woollard, president of the board of education, said L. W. Reese of Columbus would take charge temporarily as superintendent of schools and principal of the High school.

Reese, state high school supervisor, came here with Dr. E. L. Bowsher, state director of education, who addressed a student assembly in an effort to end the strike.

Dr. Woollard declined comment on the suspension of St. Clair, superintendent for the last six years. St. Clair also refused a statement immediately.

Police Patrol 'Golden Land'

Foot - Loose Unemployed Kept from Los Angeles by Force

(By Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—Police Chief James E. Davis "foreign legion" threw a barricade against the foot-loose unemployed around California's widely placarded "promised land" today despite the protests of state officials.

In Los Angeles police uniforms—guns and all—136 patrolmen blocked every highway and railway entrance to the state from Oregon, Nevada and Arizona.

Chief Davis ordered taken into "technical custody" all persons who have "no definite purpose" for entering the state.

State Officials Object
He called it "a determined endeavor to keep our unemployment and crime conditions to a minimum."

But state officials called it an attempt by Los Angeles to "take the whole state into its city limits."

"You can't stop the honest man who may have only a few dollars," protested State Senator Thomas Scotland. He reminded the chief that the "All-year club" invites tourists to the state as a "promised land."

Los Angeles police will soon find they have no right to control the border stations of the state," declared Jess Hession, deputy attorney general.

But the blockade went up in the face of the warnings. A state-wide telegraph system linked the police corps in three divisions. Chief Davis said sheriffs of border counties were cooperating.

All persons taken into custody will be fingerprinted and a record sent to Los Angeles and to the department of justice in Washington.

Guilford Lake Ice Harvest Is Heavy

LISBON, Feb. 4.—Farmers residing in the vicinity of Guilford lake in Hanover township have been engaged in harvesting ice from the lake during the last week.

The ice has shown a thickness of 12 to 15 inches. Ice houses in the vicinity of Guilford will be fully stocked.

During the severe cold weather the lake was frozen solid from shore to shore. Occasionally, holes were made in the ice to allow penetration of air for the fish.

Payrolls Increase

CLEVELAND, Feb. 4.—The average weekly payroll for all factory employees in greater Cleveland in the last four months had been about $3,500,000, an increase of about 25 per cent over the month of January, 1935, and more than double that of 1932, J. W. Vanden Bosch, chamber of commerce statistician, said today.

Does Bladder Weakness WAKE YOU UP?

Make this 25c test. Remove the cause. Use Buchu leaves, Juniper oil, etc., to flush out excess acids and impurities which cause irritation that result in restless nights, burning, scanty flow, frequent desire, or backache. Ask for little green tablets called BUKETS, the bladder laxative. They work on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. In four days if not pleased any druggist will refund your 25c. J. H.
